day "allowed". However, it appears that the Officers of the D.N. Nagar police station took a view that since the F.I.R. had been registered, it will still remain alive and it is because that the present petition was required to be filed.

3. We have heard the counsel for all the parties. Mr. Thakur, the learned A.P.P. appearing for the State has taken instructions from the Officer concerned and submitted that he is leaving to the Court to pass an appropriate orders. In this circumstance, in our view, the proper course will be that the concerned FIR ought to be quashed and the charges under Sections 406 IPC r.w. 420 of IPC to be dropped by directing to the concerned Officer not to keep the FIR alive since the understanding between the parties has already been arrived at. Accordingly MICR No.3 of 2003 registered by the respondent No.1 will stand quashed. The HDFC Bank will release the amount to the petitioner. Petition disposed of.
